Lesson 6: Conflict is Inside, Too

Conflict does not always happen because of outside actions or words. Sometimes there is internal conflict. The conflict, or confusion is happening inside of you.

Have you ever had a hard time deciding whether to do one thing or another? You may be scared to make a decision because of what you think will happen to someone you care about as a result of your action.

Describe two internal conflicts that you have had and the decisions you made.

YOUR CHALLENGE!

Are you happy with the decisions you made? If not, what decision should you have taken?
